

These youngsters, following the color guard, had signs stating, "Happy 100 Years Colorado's Still Growin' and Jim's Still Goin' and a-Blowen." Following the signs was in individual laying in state.

Sheriff George Hubbard led the color guard in Sunday's parade honoring Jim Gernhart, "The Living Corpse" of Burlington. Following Hubbard was the Burlington High School marching band under the direction of Gary Nickell.

Old Jim Gernhart (nearly 100-years old) gets ready to sit on old Beer Wagon to ride in last Sunday's parade. Photographers from newspapers, magazines and TV helped him get on chair.

John Swick (on the tractor, had his old thrashing machine in the parade last Sunday. The sign tells it all, "The Devil Made Me Do It." Parade was staged in observance of Jim's 100th birthday, even though it actually is Nov. 20.

Several old cars were highlighted in the parade last Sunday for Jim Gernhart. Note special black veil over the car in front with signs on the door. Many individuals viewed the parade last Sunday.

The Burlington Jaycees donned their "Haunted House" masks for the parade last Sunday. Directly behind the Jaycees is Miss Kit Carson County and one of her attendants.

The Wagon Wheelers Square Dance Club also participated in the parade last Sunday for Burlington's living corpse, Jim Gernhart. Several observers noted that the parade was "exceptionally long."

Several youngsters entered the parade on bicycles last Sunday for Jim Gernhart. The parade, which started at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, was observed by approximately 1,000 people.

Stan Davis "guarded" Spike Burrows closely in the parade last Sunday for Jim Gernhart, "The Living Corpse" of Burlington.

Entries in the parade, which was one of the longest in Burlington's history, ran from old cars to this little "puddle jumper" from Burlington Home Improvement Center. Chadderton Ford-Mercury had a similar entry.

One of the highlights of Jim Gernhart's birthday parade Sunday were the mourners. Here, four ladies riding on a golf cart wept sincerely for old Jim.